Fireworks Spectacular to be Held July 6 at Elephant Butte Lake

By Carlos Padilla

The Sierra County Fourth of July fireworks, considered to be the largest in New Mexico, and sponsored by Friends of Elephant Butte Lake State Park, will be held on Saturday, July 6. As in the past, the display will be launched from Rattlesnake Island.

New Mexico State Parks have graciously agreed to waive the entrance fee to the park for the display, starting at 6 p.m., to give visitors plenty of time to find the perfect spot to set up to watch the spectacular show. The main entrance to the park is located off State Highway 195 in Elephant Butte. The fireworks should begin about dusk – typically about 9 p.m. The designated rain day is Sunday, July 7.

The display is designed and performed by Star Fire Pyrotechnics. This marvelous group of volunteers, headed by Anita Cates, has been presenting the Independence Day Show at Elephant Butte Lake State Park since 1987. It was great then and has continued to improve over the years.

We are fortunate to have these volunteers, however the fireworks themselves are expensive, so the Friends of Elephant Butte Lake State Park would gratefully accept any donations to help defray the cost at: FEBLSP; PO Box 1621; Elphant Butte, NM 87935. Donations will also be accepted at entrances into Elephant Butte Lake State Park.

New Mexico State Law prohibits personal fireworks within any State Park.

Come early and enjoy museums, Veterans Memorial Park, hot tubs, art galleries, great restaurants, two award winning golf courses and just plain fun at the lake.

Fountain Murder Trial Reenactment

The Hillsboro Historical Society is presenting a creative reenactment of the Fountain Murder Trial at performances on Saturday, August 31 and Sunday, September 1, at the Hillsboro Community Center Theater. The play was written by local resident Garland Bills, producer of "Becoming Eduardo," winner of the Best Latino Film at the Santa Fe Film Festival and the Audience Choice Award at the White Sands Film Festival.

At the end of January 1896, a Grand Jury in the town of Lincoln adjourned after bringing indictments against Oliver Lee and several of his men for open and notorious cattle rustling. Colonel Albert Jennings Fountain successfully worked to bring the indictments. Leaving for Mesilla with his young son, Henry, they disappeared near White Sands on the third day of a 150-mile journey home. A trial for the murder of Henry Fountain opened on May 26, 1899, at the Sierra County Courthouse in Hillsboro, New Mexico.

At the conclusion of each reenactment of the trial, the audience, serving as the jury, will be asked to indicate by a show of hands the guilt or innocence of the defendants, Oliver Lee and James Gilliland. The outcome of the trial and the reaction of the "defendants" will depend on the vote of the audience for each performance.

Among other events planned during the reenactment weekend, authors of books on Albert Fountain, Albert Fall, the Fountain Murder Trial, and period history will read from and sign copies of their books. A short film about the final days of Colonel Fountain will be screened every 90 minutes at the historic 1891 Sheriff Murphy House. Vendors along Main Street will be offering antiques, historic artifacts, and art.

The Hillsboro Historical Society will provide an updated and expanded walking guide to Hillsboro's historic sites. Visitors may walk to the sites or see them by a wagon ride through Hillsboro.

The primary goal of the weekend events will be to raise money for the Hillsboro Historical Society Education Center. The Center will serve to educate the public on the natural and human history of the Hillsboro, Kingston and Lake Valley areas through rotating exhibits, permanent displays, and special events and lectures.

The first exhibit on display in the Historic Society's Education Center, "New Deal Public Art of New Mexico, a Traveling Photographic Exhibit," opens July 6 and continues through September.

The disappearance of Colonel Fountain and young Henry caused an outrage in the New Mexico Territory in 1896. It remains one of New Mexico's most enduring mysteries, known throughout the state. A weekend devoted to the mystery should attract large numbers to Sierra County to try to understand what happened.

Geronimo Springs Museum

One of the most popular tourist attractions in Sierra County, New Mexico, located in downtown Truth or Consequences, is Geronimo Springs Museum. It hosts thousands of visitors every year from all over the world, bringing attention to the fascinating history of southwestern New Mexico.

A community effort begun in 1971 with the local Rotary Club holding the first pancake breakfast earning $300, community support and fundraising efforts reached a total of more than $60,000, enabling the museum to open its doors to the public during the 1972 Fiesta. Since then, it has continued to grow. The vast majority of the items on exhibit were donated by community members and citizens interested in preserving the local history.

The mammoth and mastodon skulls in the Fossil and Mineral Room were found here in Sierra County, remnants of the distant past. Geology exhibits of rocks, many from the local area, are also displayed.

A life-size statue of Geronimo highlights the Apache room. Also on exhibit are early Apache baskets and history of the Warm Springs Apaches, who once lived in this area and bathed in our wonderful hot mineral waters.

The Hispanic Heritage room focuses on displays of the early farming communities that settled in the mid-1880s, in addition to the historic Jornada del Muerto portion of El Camino Real that passes near here. It was the major north-south route from Mexico City to Santa Fe since established by Juan de Oñate in 1598 and an integral part of the settlement of the Southwest.

The Ranch Rooms depict ranch life during the late 1800s to early 1900s, with many old tools and household items on display. The walls of one room are decorated with many of the brands of Sierra County residents and the chuck box was used by one of the more prominent Sierra County ranches. The Wilson Room has exhibits and photographs from the early founding of Hot Springs and other Sierra County communities, showing what life was like "back then." Included are the first bank teller's cage and many old-style business machines.

The Pottery Room has a world-class collection of early pottery dating from AD 200 to AD 1540, including much of the Mimbres black-on-white. There is a large collection of arrowheads, effigies, tools and ornaments from the prehistoric people inhabiting the high desert mountains and valleys of southwestern New Mexico. There are also pieces of contemporary pottery on display to show how the traditions have continued.

The log cabin off the Pottery Room was donated by the U.S. Forest Service and moved to its present location from the Gila National Forest in 1992. It was built as a miner's cabin in the early 1900s. Museum volunteers dismantled the cabin log by log, numbered them, and accurately rebuilt it on its present site

There are two Military Rooms encompassing military history from the 1850s to the present. In one room, displays of artifacts from early forts pay tribute to the importance of the military presence in the settlement of the area. In another room, local area veterans are honored for their contributions to making this nation what it is today. Their stories are told as individuals who endured what had to be done to serve their fellow man.

The Community Room was funded through the generosity of the Hot Springs Women's Club, an organization of ladies who felt that such a room was needed for meetings and gatherings in the town. They provided funds for the remodeling of the room and furnishing of the kitchen. The room is rented out for parties, showers, meetings and other functions to help offset the expense of museum operations. Art displays of work by local and regional artists highlight the gallery walls. The displays change monthly and may be either works for sale or collections for exhibit only.

In 1977, the Ralph Edwards Wing was added. The Ralph Edwards Room holds memorabilia of the early Fiesta years, mementos of Edwards early life and the story of the name change. Continuously playing videos alternate between excerpts of early Truth or Consequences television shows and Ralph Edwards narrating memories of the early years. Several 1950s Fiesta dresses are on display, as well as pictures of all the Fiesta Queens.

Four huge paintings by Delmas Howe highlight the Heritage Room. They depict the four cultures that contributed to the history and settlement of the Southwest: Apache, Spaniard, Mexican and Cowboy. There are four sculptured bronzes by Hivana Leyendecker on the same subject matter. Also in the room are the "Turf Club" bar, Eugene Rhodes display, Old Time Fiddlers Hall of Fame, and a collection of hand carved wood statues paying tribute to the early explorers and Native American culture.

Fiesta 2002 brought the dedication of the Windmill Patio and Geronimo Trail Interpretive and Visitor Center. These were added through a grant obtained by the Geronimo Trail Scenic Byway, one of 27 scenic byways in New Mexico. The Interpretive Center was another historic building that was renovated, and contains displays on the history and attractions of all the communities in Sierra County, as well as tourist information from the local area and around the state. The Windmill Patio has a full-sized ranch windmill, dedicated to the memory of Bill Johnson, in a rural setting where visitors can sit and enjoy the patio.

The Gift Shop has a wide assortment of books on Sierra County and southwestern New Mexico, USGS topographical maps, unique gift ideas and collectible souvenirs. The volunteers and staff are always ready to assist shoppers and information seekers.

Items on display in front of the museum include a freight wagon that hauled freight from Engle to the mining towns, the pump from Cutter that provided water for the steam locomotives, and one of the original turbine runners from the Elephant Butte Dam hydroelectric plant.

Geronimo Springs Museum houses the history of Sierra County in more than just artifacts. There is a reference library of documents, books and photographs on the local area that is frequently used by researchers, authors, historians, students and the general public. There is an ever-growing collection of audio and video oral history interviews. This museum is an evolving establishment that is constantly acquiring additional items of significance to the history of the area, expanding its displays and meeting the needs of the visitors who enjoy it.
